SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

PROMOTING HEALTH FOR REFUGEES IN AN ERA OF FORCED MIGRATION

The 2019 Forum, led by co-Chairs PROFESSOR PHILIP BERGER MD, CFPC FCAHS at the University of Toronto and PROFESSOR LAURENCE J. KIRMAYER MD, FRCPC, FCAHS, FRSC at McGill University will address urgent health policy and practice issues in refugee health in Canada.

Global economic inequities, violence and war, and environmental catastrophes aggravated by climate change, ensure that the numbers of people seeking asylum will continue to increase in the years to come. CAHS Fellows and other researchers have a crucial role to play in bringing evidence to this urgent policy issue.

The Forum will explore the interplay of human rights, social policy and clinical practice in refugee health, identify best practices and gaps in existing knowledge, and explore the implications of current research and emerging challenges to address the health needs of refugees in Canada.

The CAHS will bring together the best available evidence, expertise and experience in health, law and ethics to inform discussion. In terms of outcomes, the event will serve to identify best practices and specific strategies to improve the health outcomes of refugees seeking protection Canada.
